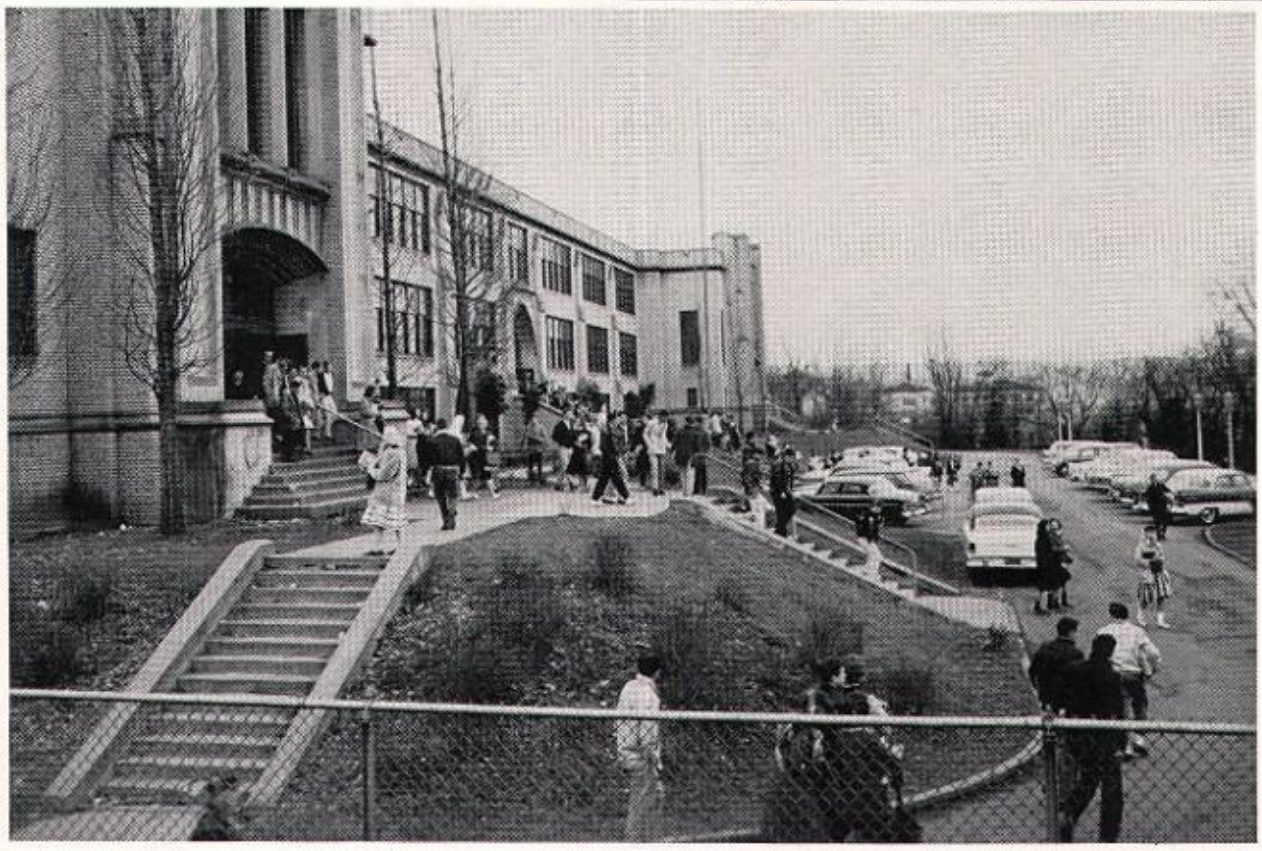
The gym is busy throughout the day with student activities.

Mr. Thomas Barbero controls student traffic in the cafeteria each day.



Traffic around the high school reaches a peak at dismissal time.

The high school period in our lives serves as the bridge to maturity for us. As a bridge in a real sense, serves to by-pass obstacles, span chasma, connect regions, etc., so a student's career in high school may also be said to serve. A student who utilizes his high school environment fully will be able to continue to fill gaps in his education to make worth-while choices to function as a contributing member of society. Though nature accidentally created the first crude bridge when lightning felled a tree across a stream, modern bridges are all complex, manmade structures serving a variety of needs. Bridges have become increasingly complex in response to the ever-changing patterns of our cultural environment.

Our schools have changed in a comparable way. No longer will the open-air school of Socrates or the one room school of early America serve the needs of the twentieth century. Expanding populations and challenging technology have made necessary vast school systems which will provide many and varied opportunities to its students. Every new school year gives evidence of the change through expanded and revised program offerings.

Thus, our own high school, constantly changing in response to the demands of society, is serving as our bridge to the future —a future in which we shall continue to forge ahead to success because we have successfully bridged the gaps in our lives.

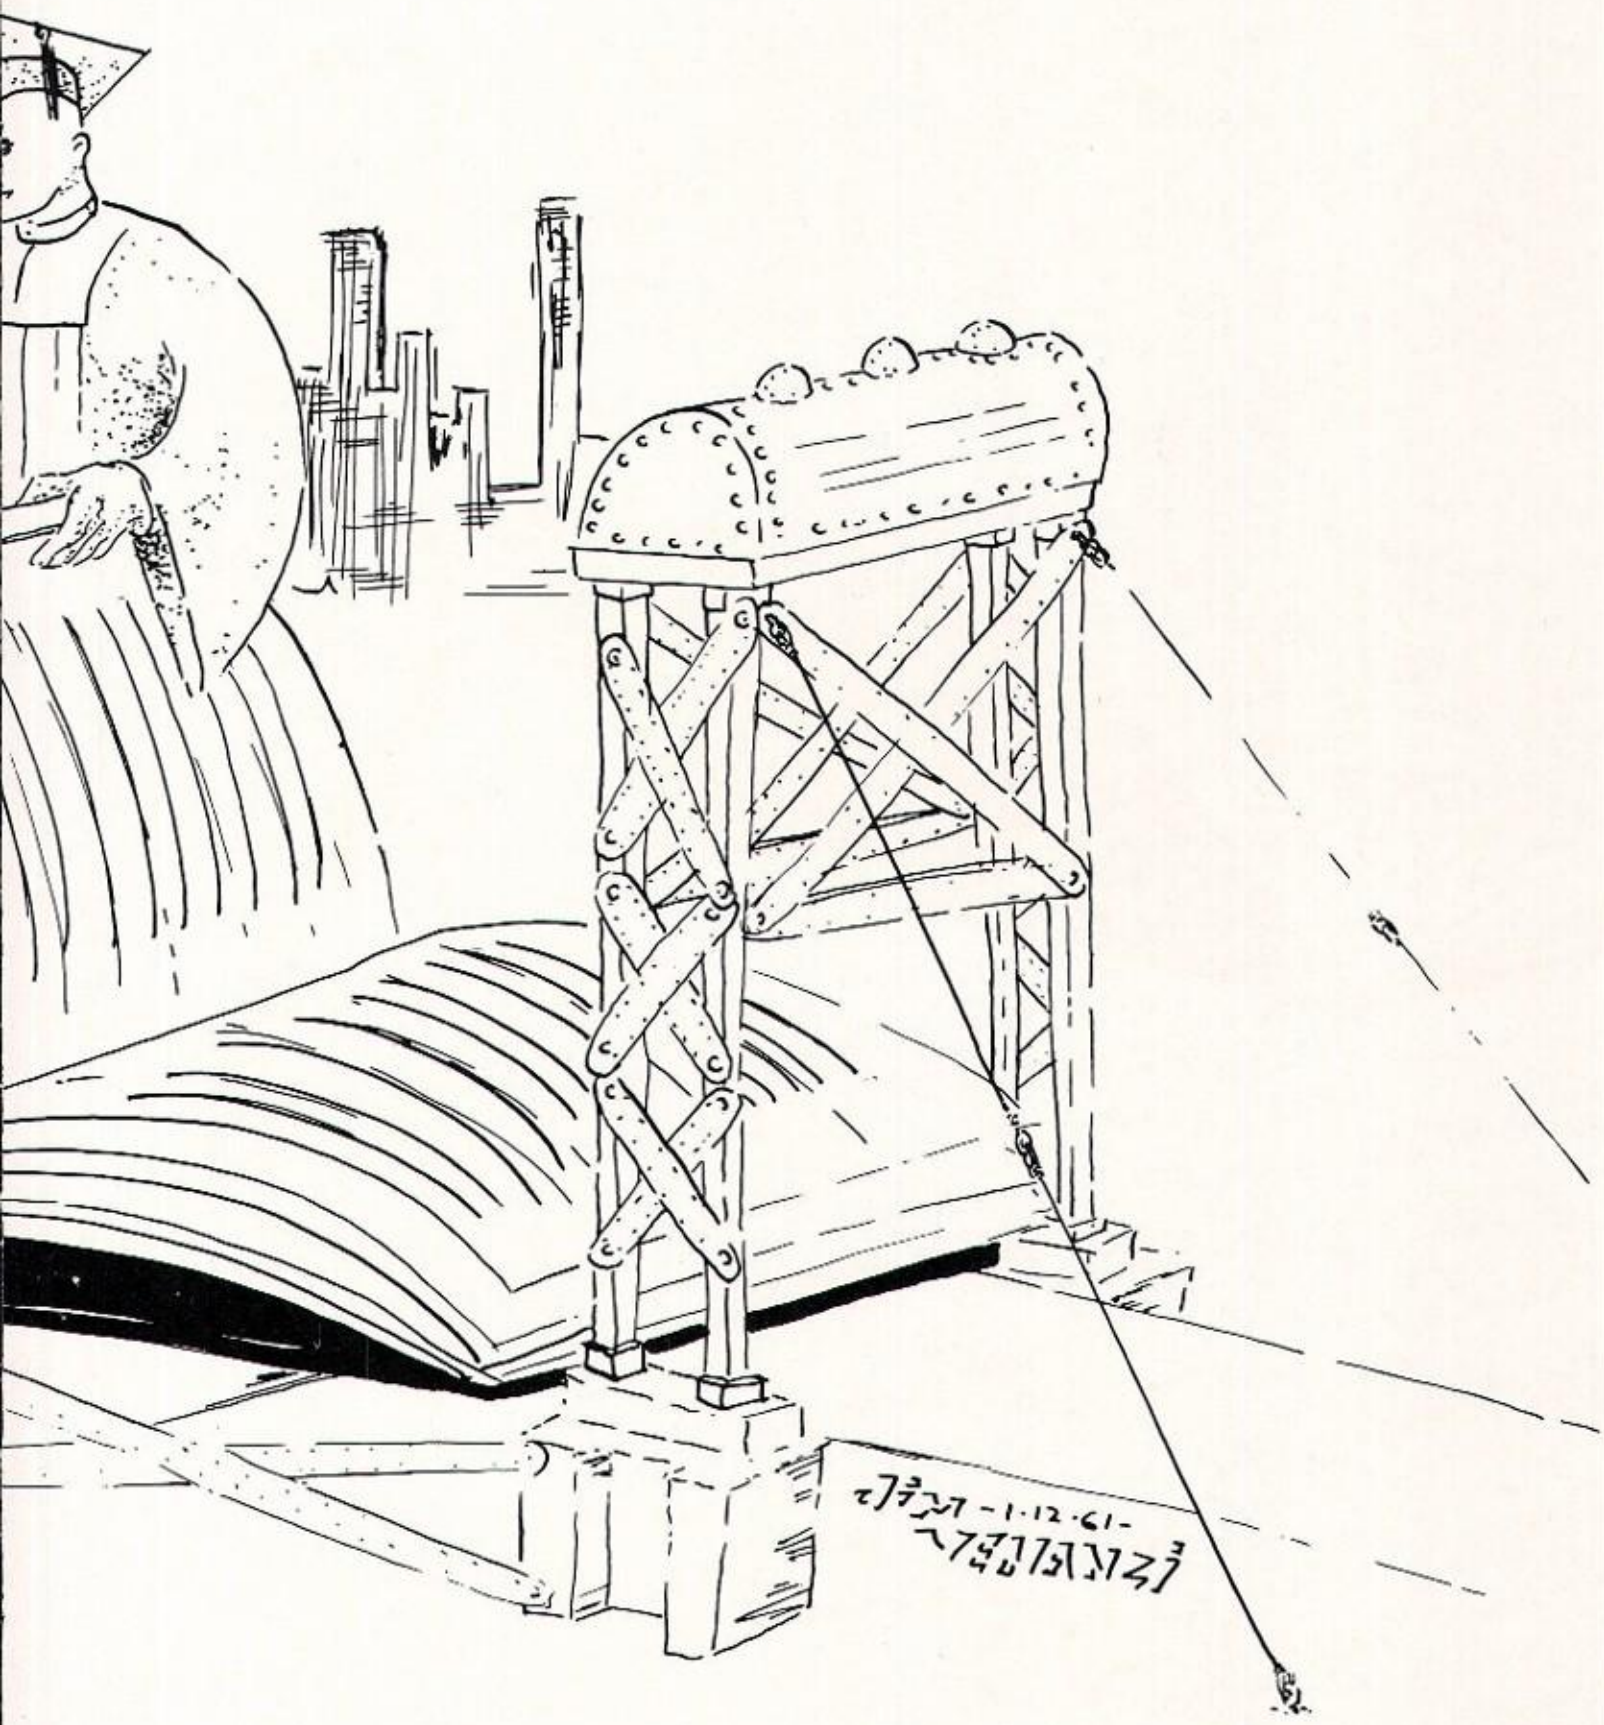
The faculty and administration control the flow of knowledge to the students.



A Bascule bridge is a movable bridge which swings its arms up like the gate at a railroad crossing. It has massive counterweights which move up and down like window weights. This controlling factor raises the bridge and allows boats to pass through.

Just as the Bascule bridge controls the flow of traffic passing over it and the boats passing underneath so is the faculty a controlling factor at Greater Monongahela Area High School. The knowledge and training of the teachers provide the students with a source of information and guidance. This source helps form personalities and develop strong characters.

The Bascule bridge is made of steel and is built to withstand the forces of nature. Analogous to this is the faculty, which stands firm on important matters of conduct. They are the models after whom we, as students, pattern ourselves.

The faculty is a vital key to the advancement of education and personal development.

The school nurse works closely with the Home and School visitor in solving student problems.

THE MEDICAL STAFF IS INTERESTED IN MAINTAINING THE HEALTH OF THE STUDENT.

The school doctor and school nurses play a very important part in the functioning of a school.

Dr. Philip F. Vaccaro is the school doctor of the Greater Monongahela Area High School. His duties include the examination of all Monongahela public school pupils in the eleventh grade. He is the examining physician for all school athletics, the attending physician at football games, and the medical consultant to the Board of Education on all health problems affecting the public school children.

The school nurses, Johanna Farkas and Adelaide Pizzutelli, are always present in their office in case of an accident or illness. They also carry out the state health program of weighing, measuring, and testing the eyes of every student in the tenth, eleventh, or twelfth grades. In addition, they administer hearing tests to students in the sophomore and senior classes.

THE SOPHOMORE YEAR WILL LEAD TO GREAT EXPERIENCES.

The sophomore year presents a first small, but important, bridge that must be crossed. Just as the seemingly small Hazel Kirk Bridge is important, the sophomore year serves. This year may be the first step up the ladder of success in high school life.

The sophomores begin to adjust to the daily routines in school; they busily plan many activities and new experiences they hope to embrace. Overcoming the confusions and frustrations of this year aid each sophomore in adjusting to the demands of the school and community.

This year, at first seemingly insignificant, bridges a major gap in the sophomore's education as he strides forward to meet the problems of his future.

THE JUNIOR YEAR IS A TIME OF ADDED INTERESTS.

The junior year becomes more detailed than was the sophomore year. We may compare it to the larger bridges as it becomes more complex and serves a greater need.

In this year the students gain a closer familiarity with the school and its faculty; its aims and its purposes.

This can be an extremely active year as many students plan and work for the annual prom, choose class rings, sell magazines, and attend conferences and conventions related to school activities.

Now the students plan more definitely for their future work. If a junior bridges this year with worth-while activities, he has taken a significant forward step in his life.

THE SENIOR YEAR IS THE THRESHOLD
TO THE FUTURE.

As we reach our senior year we find ourselves faced with new problems and important decisions, which make this the most complicated of our high school years. This complicated senior year may very well be compared to a highly complex bridge system, since both are serving many needs.

In this year we gain a fuller realization of the importance of education and the real aims and objectives of the school.

When we, as seniors, step forward to receive our diplomas, we shall have taken our final step across this complex bridge into the world of opportunity; we should now be prepared to cross more complex bridges as they arise before us.

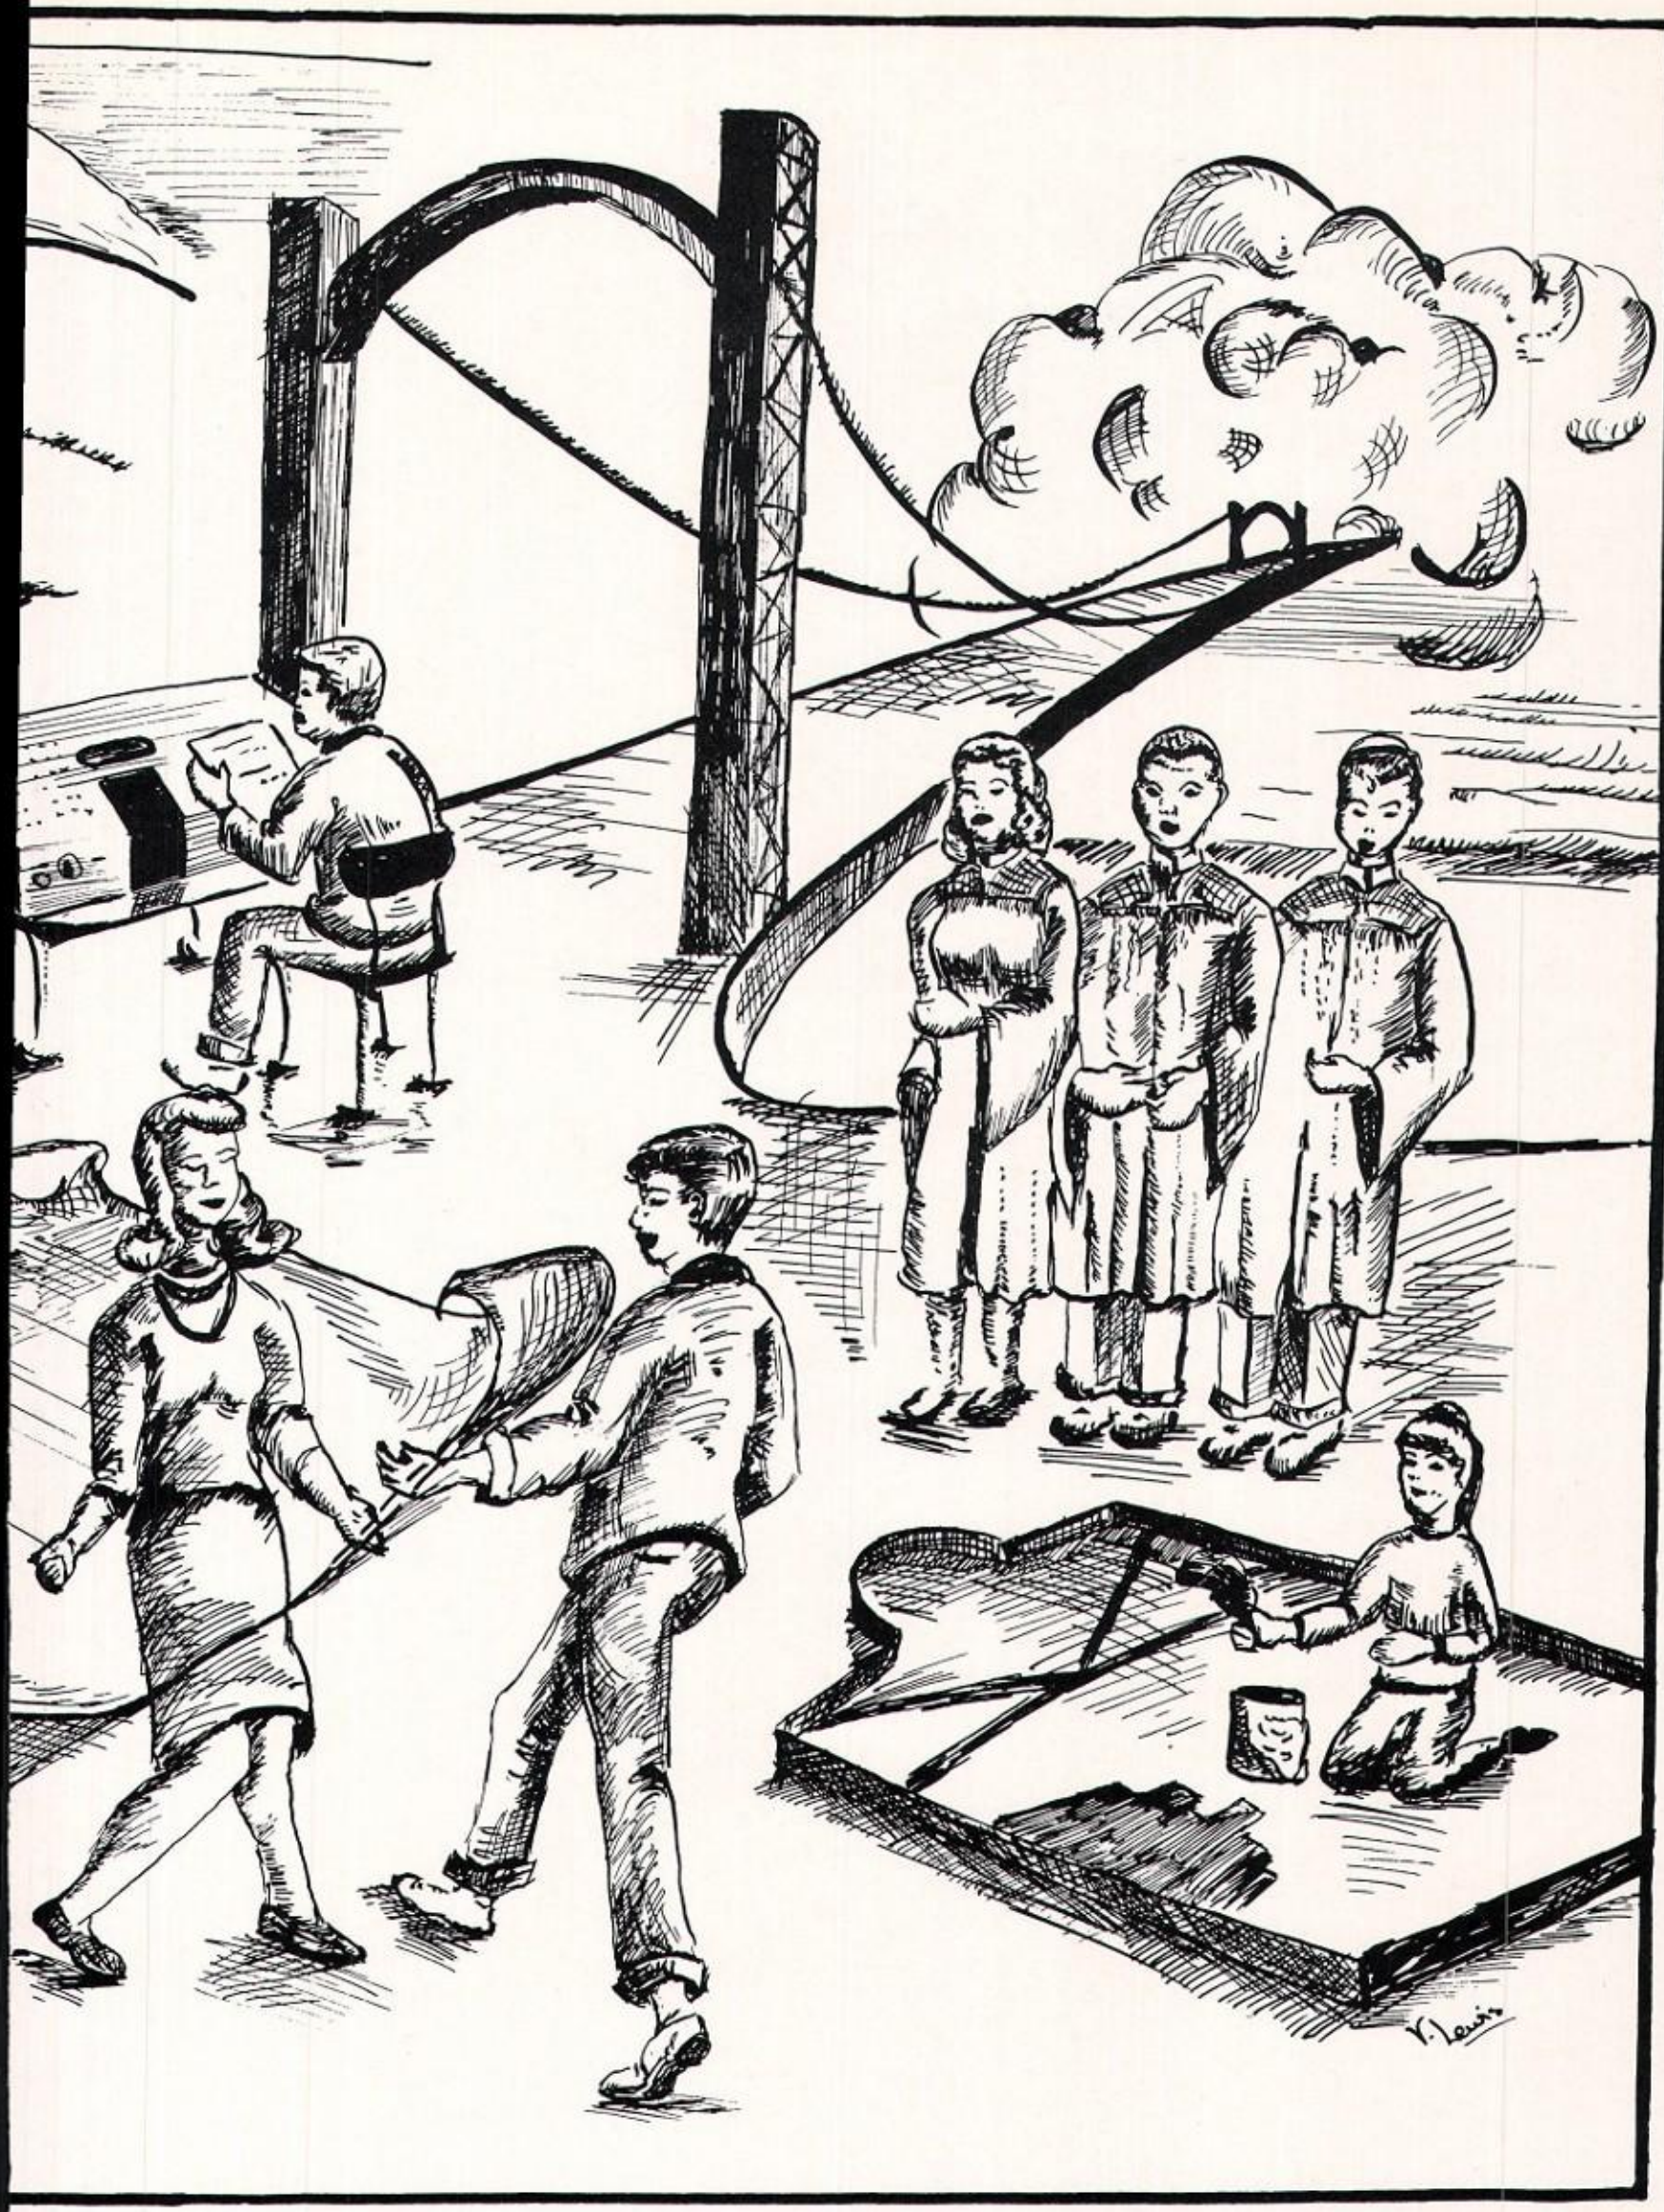
ACTIVITIES



On the bridge, just as in high school life, many activities take place, one no more important than another. The majority of the activities on the bridge is the cars traveling at various speeds across it. These cars can be compared to the clubs in our school. Just as there are different types of cars, there are different types of clubs: science; commercial; athletic; college preparatory. Seen as much, but not in such numbers, are the trucks, buses, and trailers. Running concurrently with these in school life are the band; music, drama, and service groups; publications. Not to be overlooked on the bridge are the people who walk across it. These people put the final touch to the activities on a bridge. With these people we associate the student council and the National Honor Society.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Greater Monongahela Area High School Student Council, the student-governing body of the school, is composed of representatives elected by the student body.

Of the various activities of the Student Council the one considered the most profitable is the foreign exchange program which is an annual project. This year's exchange student is Judy Gonzalez of Panama City, Panama. She is shown at the right playing the piano for her friends at a party held in her honor.

The annual pep rally and bonfire for the Monongahela vs. Donora football game was held on October 27, 1960, at the Mounds.

The rally, which was sponsored by the cheerleaders and Student Council, had its main purpose the arousing of school spirit for the annual rivalry contest. Cheers, marches and fight songs added to the "electricity" in the air.

An extra attraction this year was the addition of a car smash, sponsored by the Student Council. The purpose of this project was to aid in raising funds for next year's foreign exchange program.

An old car body, which was painted with Donora's colors, black and orange, was available for the public to swing a large hammer at the car. Each dent added to the activity.

The public is greeted pleasantly by student usherettes at all high school functions.

The Usherettes of G.M.A.H.S. are a group of 30 girls sponsored by Miss Anna Belle Sweeney who usher for all high school activities. The girls are organized as a regular school club. In addition to the elected officers, there are two head usherettes, chosen by Miss Sweeney.

The Usherettes serve during the year for basketball and football games, play, concerts and graduation activities.

Uniforms are purchased by the girls with profits made by selling candy during lunch periods.

The girls hold an annual spring banquet at which time Miss Sweeney announces head usherette appointments for the following year. The junior students receive usherette pins and the seniors are presented with gifts.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

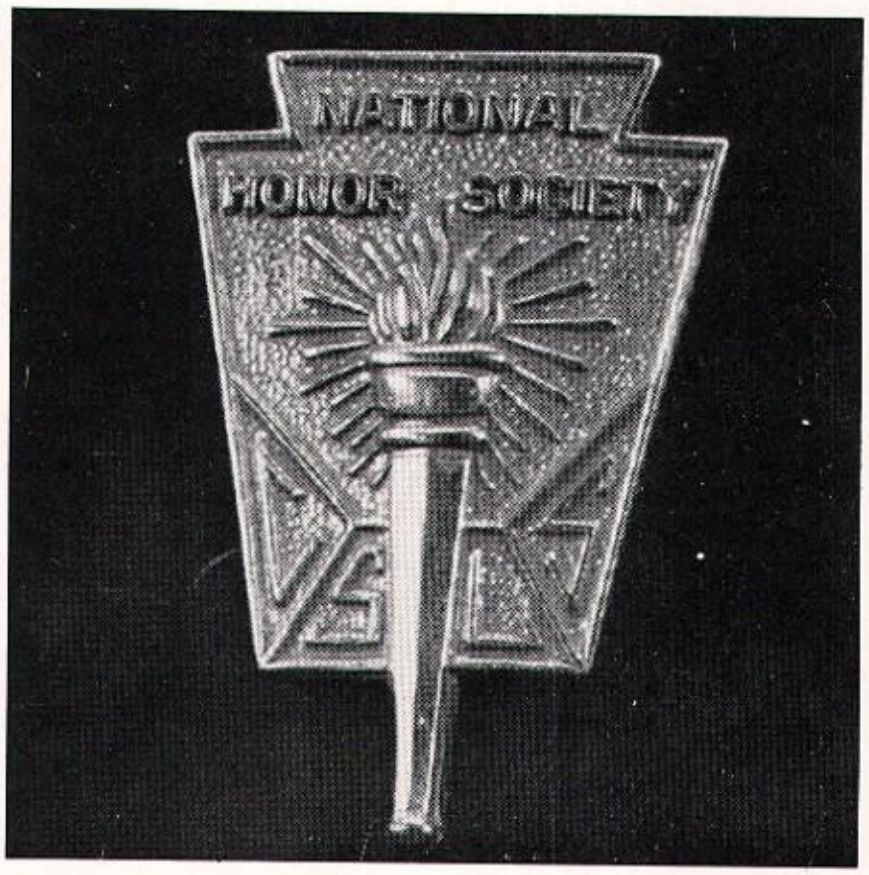
The members of the National Honor Society are known by the pins they wear.



The National Honor Society is an organization which is open to all high school students who have at least a 3.3 average between the time of the sophomore year and the middle of the junior year.

At the Greater Monongahela Area High School, members are chosen on the basis of scholarship, leadership, citizenship, service, and character. A group of teachers, selected by the principal, evaluate the students as to their participation in the extracurricular activities of the school. Some of the things considered are: offices in clubs and homerooms; student council membership; dramatics work.

Journalism activities are a vital and necessary function of the Greater Monongahela Area High School. The journalism class edits a yearbook, the Flame; a magazine, the Torch; and a newspaper, The Red and White Review.

Through these quality publications, school life and activities are related to the student body and community. The formula needed in publishing a yearbook is complex. It is a situation which takes not only diligence but also co-operation, the co-operation of the whole staff—editors, writers, typists, business managers, and photographers. It is a long-range task with many extra hours work. As each person completes his task, it is the editor's job to co-ordinate and complete the project.

"That the wise men may hear and increase in knowledge," is the motto of The Red and White Review, which is published monthly by the school newspaper staff. The staff strives to print news concerning the student body, faculty, and administration interestingly and accurately. The Red and White Review serves as a means for the student body to express its opinions on any matter pertaining to school life through a "Letter to the Editor" column and various public-opinion polls. Through its publication, the newspaper staff hopes to arouse in each student a deeper appreciation of his school life and to promote throughout the school and community an aroused school spirit.

To encourage creative writing, the journalism class annually sponsors a magazine, the Torch. This project provides an opportunity for each high school student to participate in journalism activities. The student writes because he has something significant to say. He writes with the knowledge that his words will be read, not only by his elders but also by members of his peer group.

Journalism is training in democracy for successful living, today and in the future. As a representative of the journalism class, the student is placed into direct contact with the active world that he knows and understands. Through his publications activities, he becomes a moving, vital force in his microcosm. He learns to observe critically, to inquire, to narrate. The journalist learns habits of industry and tact. As a member of a team working toward a common goal, he learns to subordinate his personal interests to those of the group. He learns to co-operate and to serve for the joy of serving. In an unending battle with deadlines, he learns to meet obstacles and to overcome them.

The journalist acquires habits, attitudes, and skills necessary to a successful life in today's rapidly changing world.

"The high school period in our lives serves as the bridge to maturity."

COMMERCIAL CLUBS

Future Business Leaders of America, F.B.L.A., is an organization known throughout the United States, standing for certain rules of conduct pertaining to the "Business World." Its goal is Service, Education, and Progress.

The Greater Monongahela Area High School's F.B.L.A. is in Region 4. There are two groups, one in Group I Clubs, sponsored by Miss Irene Robertson and Miss Ruth Nuss; the one in Group II is sponsored by Mrs. Virginia Becker. Because of two clubs does not mean the groups do not work together, for they work as a unit only meeting at different times.

Our school's organization works very hard throughout the year in many different phases. Some of these are:

1. Having fall and spring conventions, the Fall Conference being held at G.M.A.H.S. this year
2. Selling "little" miniature bears and pillows in our school colors with an "M" on them
3. Sponsoring the Valentine Dance each year to raise money
4. Selling candy during home basketball games
5. Selling Easter eggs for their main project

The members of the club are given points for all that the club does and what they do for the club.

During the 1960-1961 school year, the club, under the sponsorship of Mr. Lynn Wolf, enrolled a total of thirty-seven active members.

Karen Young and Jacqueline Angioletti were chosen by the club for the Executive Council membership.

Four members of the Demo Club attended the annual Regional Conference of the Pennsylvania Federation of Junior Historians, held at California State College on Thursday, April 20, 1961. Present at this affair were Louis Martin, president of the Demo Club and the first vice president of the Regional Conference, Karen Young, who delivered a five-minute speech on the events during the last months of President Buchanan's administration; Bill Harst; and Joseph Palmer.

The appearance of Santa at the Sophomore Historian dance will always be remembered.

The Sophomore Historians is a club for sophomore history students. It assumed the chairmanship for the mock presidential election which was held in the high school.

The club chose as its members for the executive council Lynne Fawcett and Bill Turini.

At Christmas time the club sponsored a "Toys for Tots Drive." The toys were given to needy children in the community. In December a Good Will Dance was held. The money received was sent to CARE.

In conjunction with the study of Communism a Crusade for Freedom Drive was sponsored in the Junior and Senior High School by the Historians.

A Post-Easter Dance was held, with the proceeds donated to M.E.D.I.C.O.

In April the club participated actively in the Southeastern District meeting of P.F.J.H. at California State College.

SCIENCE CLUBS

Girls aren't always afraid of fish!

The Biology Club, under the sponsorship of Mr. Poad, is a club for those people interested in the study of plants and animals. Throughout the year, the students participate in many projects which take time and show skill. Some of these projects include: the collecting of leaves and arranging them in notebooks, their bug collections, and the yearly project in which the student decides for himself what he would like to do. This project is due in March.

The Biology Club is also planning many field trips. A few of these are: a trip to the zoo, the museum in Oakland, and the flower show at Phipps Conservatory.

The club is also raising money to buy films for the school.

SENIOR HOOPSTERS

The basketball team of the Greater Monongahela Area High School completed this season with a record of 5 wins and 16 losses. This mediocre record was due, in part, to a lack of experienced players, but a primary factor appeared to be lack of height.

The Cats ended the exhibition slate with a 4-4 record, but in league play, where their opponents were taller and more experienced, the Cats were 1-12.
